CORAM : HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE D.P.BUCH

Date of decision: 13/04/2004

ORAL JUDGEMENT

The petitioner above named has preferred this petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India for appropriate writ, order or direction, for quashing and setting aside an order of detention dated 27/10/03 passed by respondent no.2 herein, in exercise of the powers u/s.3(2) of the Gujarat Prevention of Anti Social Activities Act, 1985 (for short, "the said Act").

2. It was alleged against the petitioner that three prohibition offences were registered against him before Northern - Western Division Prohibition Police Station at C.R.No.3729 / 2002, 1305 / 2003 and 1372 / 2003 on 23/11/03, 04/09/03 and 16/09/03 respectively for offences punishable u/s.66, 65 and 81 of the Bombay Prohibition Act, 1949. It was also alleged against the petitioner that two witnesses had given statements against the petitioner saying that he was engaged in bootlegging activities.

3. On the strength of the aforesaid three registered offences and two statements of unnamed witnesses, the detaining authority found that the petitioner is required to be detained, with a view to prevent him from indulging in bootlegging activities which amounted to a threat to public order. Accordingly, the order of detention was passed against the petitioner.

4. Feeling aggrieved by the said order of his detention, the petitioner has preferred this petition before this Court. It has been contended here that on a mere fact that three offences were registered, it could not be said that there was a threat to public order. It has also been contended that the names of the witnesses were not disclosed to the petitioner, and therefore, there was a violation of the principle of natural justice. That, therefore, the order of detention is illegal and hence, it may be quashed and set aside.

5. On receipt of the petition, Rule was issued and in response to the service of notice of Rule, Ms.P B Sheth learned AGP has appeared on behalf of the respondents. The learned AGP produces affidavit, which is taken on record. I have heard the learned advocates for the parties and have perused the papers.

6. During the course of arguments, the learned advocate for the petitioner has shown me an affidavit of Mr.Rajubhai A Tomar who has shown himself to be a friend of the petitioner. The deponent has stated in the affidavit that whatever stated in para 1 to 15 of the petition are true to his knowledge and therefore, a query was raised as to how the friend of the petitioner came to know about the averments made in the petition and as to how he could say that the averments made in the petition are true to his knowledge. The learned advocate for the petitioner was not in a position to clarify the position. She has, however, stated that henceforth she would be vigilant in seeing that the affidavit is properly drafted. With a view to see that no injustice is done to the petitioner and considering the date of actual detention, it was found proper to hear the matter on merit without going into the aforesaid technicality.

7. It is not much in dispute that the petitioner was detained in exercise of the powers u/s.3(2) of the said Act on the ground that the petitioner was a "bootlegger" and his activities amounted to a threat to public order. The learned advocate for the petitioner has contended that three offences under the Bombay Prohibition Act, 1949, have been registered against the petitioner. That such stray offences registered against the petitioner could not lead to an inference that the petitioner was a "bootlegger" and that his alleged bootlegging activities raised a threat to public order or public health.

8. The detaining authority has also considered statements of two witnesses whose names have not been disclosed. The learned advocate for the petitioner has argued that the names of the witnesses were required to be disclosed and when the names were not disclosed, the petitioner was unaware about those names and hence, the petitioner could not submit an effective representation to the detaining authority or to the State Government.

9. The learned AGP contends that u/s.9(2) of the said Act, the detaining authority has a power of privilege to withhold the names of the witnesses from the notice of the petitioner. There is no dispute about the same. At the same time, it is required to be considered that such a representation is required to be considered on appropriate material. Before a right or power of privilege is claimed u/s.9(2) of the said Act, the detaining authority has to ascertain by appropriate inquiry that there is a genuine fear or apprehension in the minds of the witnesses on account of which they apprehend fear and therefore, their names were required to be kept away from the notice of the petitioner. In the present case, we find that the records do not show that there was credible material before the detaining authority in order to withhold the names of the witnesses from the notice of the petitioner. In absence of such material on record, it cannot be said that the detaining authority was justified in withholding the names of those witnesses.

10. So, on the one hand, with respect to the registered offences, it could not be said that the illegal activities of the petitioner would lead to a threat to public order, and on the other hand, the statements of witnesses were not considered and their names were not disclosed to the petitioner which would amount to a violation of the principle of natural justice. Therefore, on these counts, the order of detention is required to be quashed and set aside.

11. For the foregoing reason, this petition is allowed. The impugned order of detention dated 27/10/03 passed by respondent no.2 against the petitioner, is ordered to be quashed and set aside. Detenu, Khusalji Ravaji Thakore, is ordered to be set at liberty forthwith, if no longer required in any other case. Rule is made absolute with no order as to costs. Direct service permitted.
